Module 1 – Introduction to Existing Digital Academic Records, Practices & Systems (Legacy Systems)

Moderator: Alexander Agafanov, PhD (Globe Language Services)

Panelists: Annetta Stroud (AACRAO)

Robert Watkins (University of Texas, Austin)

“I’d rather see the official or original documents scanned rather than a digital document. Still not totally ready to trust digital docs from other countries. An exception is CHESSIC and CDGDC (China) but they come through National Student Clearing House. We want the transcript and digital verification.”

“US & Canada have developed a secure enough digital shared platform. However, the same cannot be said for international systems.”

“TOEFL is an example along with GRE that come to us electronically. We don’t want it in paper form and by mail. Transcripts are a different story.”

“Pros concerning digital transcripts are clear, digitalization is happening and it drives the decision making. The cons are the everchanging costs, upgrading the system, efficiency (a lot of the digital systems are not efficient yet).”

Module 2 – Digital Platforms set up by Universities and Third-Party Providers

Moderator: Alex Popovski (Ucredo)

Panelists: Plixenia Tohaneanu (University of Idaho)
Michael Hovland (University of Iowa)
Michael Sessa (PESC)

Institutional Perspectives:

- University of Idaho: Require a student-centered approach
Consider endorsements and existing partnerships
Commitment to existing privacy regulations
Transparency
Consider collaborative initiatives (HEAR, MyeQuals)
Requires consistent, diligent monitoring

Module 2 – Digital Platforms set up by Universities and Third-Party Providers

Institutional Perspectives:

- University of Idaho:
 - Require a student-centered approach
 - Consider endorsements and existing partnerships
 - Commitment to existing privacy regulations
 - Transparency
 - Consider collaborative initiatives (HEAR, MyeQuals)
 - Requires consistent, diligent monitoring

Institutional Perspectives (continued)

- University of Iowa:
 - Challenges with accepting digital transcripts:
 - Data matching = The ability to capture the required data and import into home system
 - Are high-stakes processes for low-stakes data appropriate?
 - Standardization by individual institutions, or preferably a few data providers
 - Standardization Working Group organized at NACAC 2016-2017, now adopted by PESC

Module 3: Digital Platforms set up by Governments

Motivations for governments to digitize documents:

- Regulation of qualifications and functional outcomes of education

Offered through bodies that oversee education sector

Trustworthy, but present other challenges:

- Limited data sets

- Restricted access

- Content (extent of academic record varies)

Credential Evaluator's Perspective

Two types of government-sponsored programs:

- Direct Government and Ministerial Providers
- Government-appointed providers

Benefits:

- Removal of barriers
- Ease
- Efficiency
- Automatic layer of authentication

Challenges:

- Cost
- Limited Data
- Ease of use and site stability
- Publicity / notoriety
- Decentralization

Roundtable Key takeaways:

- What is an official credential?
 - Six tables, six different definitions
 - Example: “Authentic transcripts/credentials issued or attested by a regionally-accredited institution with granting authority, enclosed in a sealed envelope, with the institution’s official stamp and/or appropriate signature on the back flap.”
 - Authentic versus Official
 - “Authentic transcripts do not need to be official, but all official transcripts must be authentic.”

Diplome: the concept

Italy, with CIMEA-NARIC Italia, is the first country using the blockchain technology in the field of recognition of qualifications.

Presented by the Italian Minister at the Ministerial Council of education on November 26, 2018, and reaffirmed in Council of May 22, 2019.

Why blockchain for recognition:

1. Digitalization of the recognition process
2. Student-centered approach
3. Data security and privacy
4. Fraud minimization

The concept

Individuals get assigned a secure wallet where they can store their qualifications using the blockchain technology, therefore creating a decentralized, transparent, certified and tamper-proof ecosystem with the goal to simplify the procedure for a student, a graduate or a professional to enroll in a university or to apply for a job in the labour market of another country.

FAQ

Don't wait – find the right public authority

UHR evaluates many qualifications, but does not issue any certifications. Please read the following to establish whether you need to contact a different public authority:

- Applying for higher education – you do not need to have an evaluation of your education qualifications to apply for a course or programme at a Swedish university.
- Regulated professions – Some professions are regulated by Swedish law and require certification or other formal recognition. In order to work in such a profession, you must apply for recognition from that profession's competent authority.
- Teacher certification – Pre-school teacher and teacher are regulated professions in Sweden. The Swedish National Agency for Education is the competent authority for issuing certification for these professions.
- Healthcare professions – The National Board of Health and Welfare assesses and issues certification and licences for the 21 different regulated healthcare professions
