

Foreign Credits announces name change to Scholaro

October 24, 2018

Chicago, IL As of August 7, 2018, Foreign Credits has changed its name to Scholaro, reflecting the company's growth into one of the leading credential evaluation and educational research organizations in the industry. Foreign Credits, Inc., now Scholaro, is an endorsed member of the Association of International Credential Evaluators (AICE) and continues to work together with AICE to deliver educational resources, credential evaluation standards, and expertise to the international and comparative education fields.

Foreign Credits was founded in 2008 and grew quickly, adding Classbase.com, a database of education systems, to its portfolio in 2012. Classbase Pro became a subscription service in 2015 and provided vital international program descriptions, grade conversions, and credential equivalencies to institutional subscribers around the world.

Along with the name change, an updated website was launched under the umbrella Scholaro. Scholaro will continue to offer unparalleled evaluation and translation services along with Scholaro GPA and a revamped version of Classbase Pro, now known as Scholaro Pro. While our resources have evolved, our core values of customer service, innovation, and professionalism haven't changed.
